

User Story 1:

As Logan Sherwood (a working parent who is registered), I want the app to create my schedule by reorganizing my daily habits/activities so that I have an improved schedule for the week. (Point value: 9)

User Story 2:

As Cyrus Brown (a university student who is not registered), I want to register so I can use the schedule planner. (Point value: 8)

User Story 3:

As Cyrus Brown (a university student who is registered), I want to login so I can use the schedule planner. (Point value: 8)

User Story 4:

As Stella Woods (a working adult who is registered), I want to be able to see my fully optimized schedule for the day/week so that I may follow my new schedule for the week. (Point value: 7)

User Story 5:

As Stella Woods (a working adult who is registered), I want to be able to re-prioritize my daily habits/activities so that the app can adjust my schedule accordingly. (Point value: 7)

User Story 6:

As Cyrus Brown (a university student who is registered), I want to be able to add/remove daily activities so that I can reflect last minute changes on the schedule. (Point value: 6)

User Story 7:

As Logan Sherwood (a working parent who is registered), I want to be able to compare my entered schedule with the optimized schedule so I can make an active decision about what to do next. (Point value: 6)

User Story 8:

As Logan Sherwood (a working parent who is registered), I want to be able to set certain daily habits/activities to be time-gated so that my schedule does not have me eating breakfast at 10pm. (Point value: 4)

User Story 9:

As Cyrus Brown (a university student who is registered), I want to be able to see daily/weekly trends of my activities so that I have a visual indicator of my habits. (Point value: 3)

User Story 10:

As Cyrus Brown (a university student who is registered), I want to be able to add activities scheduled at any given day/time so that I can enter planned activities ahead of time. (Point value: 3)

User Story 11:

As Stella Woods (a working adult who is registered), I want to input my daily habits/activities for a week in advance so I don't have to worry about constantly updating the tracker. (Point value: 3)

User Story 12:

As Stella Woods (a working adult who is registered), I want to be able to manually edit the schedules given by the app so that I can make sure my schedule is appropriate for me in case the schedule makes a mistake. (Point value: 3)

User Story 13:

As Cyrus Brown (a university student who is registered), I want the schedule to indicate what my last added activity was so that I can keep track of my schedule accurately. (Point value: 2)

User Story 14:

As Cyrus Brown (a university student who is registered), I want to be able to view my schedule by date/week so I can be flexible with planning and viewing activities. (Point value: 2)

User Story 15:

As Stella Woods (a working adult who is registered), I want to be able to set a habit/activity as repeating weekly so that I don't have to put in the same task daily or weekly every time. (Point value: 2)

User Story 16:

As Logan Sherwood (a working parent who is registered), I want the app to be able to set breaks between activities so that I don't end up doing activities for hours on end without any breaks in-between activities. (Point value: 2)

User Story 17:

As Logan Sherwood (a working parent who is registered), I want to be able to click a button to be able to logout so that I can ensure my entries aren't changed. (Point value: 2)

User Story 18:

As Logan Sherwood (a working parent who is registered), I want the ability to allow the app to send me notifications for my high priority items so that I am reminded to stick to my improved schedule accordingly. (Point value: 1)