Burndown Chart

Comments:
NOTE → Burndown Chart Power-up was used, it is not the greatest but provides us with a decent chart for us to reflect on.

- Our chart shows that our progress for completing tasks has been nonexistent until the Sunday November 16th/Monday November 17th, since that is when Sprint 3 officially began.
- After this long gap of inactivity, we began creating cards, reassessing our remaining stories, and then beginning to complete them task-by-task
- Lastly, our progress had been made in order to cut down on the cards remaining.
- Our remaining cards, the reorganization algorithm, calendar implementation & user login/creation, were all completed as well.
- We have successfully completed our entire app, and we have achieved our ideal application.
- Our velocity began (if we start at the 16th), at an ideal pace, but became hectic during the week of the 23rd due to time constraints and other courses interfering with our progress, hence the odd dip and rise in cards being completed.